

GRADUATE PROGRAMS IN CLASSICS

The Department of Classics at Washington University in St. Louis invites applicants to its MA and PhD programs. For individuals with a strong undergraduate foundation in Latin and Greek, the MA is a solid basis for future graduate study in Classics and related fields, for secondary teaching, and for other careers. The PhD trains candidates for careers in academia and beyond. Washington University's program offers optional special tracks in Ancient Music, Performance, History, and Philosophy. PhD candidates are fully funded with tuition remission and generous fellowships. MA students also receive full tuition remission and additional funding (awards and assistantships).

The Department of Classics also cooperates with WashU's Department of Education to mentor students in the Latin track of their MAT program.

In addition to listed faculty, numerous associated faculty in Philosophy, History, Performing Arts and other areas participate in our graduate programs and Classics community.

Graduate students benefit from an openness to interdisciplinary study, resources including significant collections of ancient coins and papyri, and attentive mentoring in research, teaching, and career development.

Students also enjoy the inexpensive living and vibrant arts and recreation scene of the city of St. Louis.

For information on the program, contact the Director of Graduate Studies:
Timothy Moore
tmoores26@wustl.edu

For print materials and information on the application process, contact classics@wustl.edu.

 classicswustl

 Washington University Classics Department

classics.wustl.edu/graduate

FACULTY

NICOLA ARAVECCHIA, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

Archaeology of the late Roman period; early Christian art & architecture; late antique Egypt; early Egyptian monasticism

WILLIAM BUBELIS, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Greek history & historiography; the ancient economy & Greek social history; the Attic orators; Greek religion; epigraphy & numismatics; the ancient Near East

CATHY KEANE, PROFESSOR AND CHAIR

Latin literature and Roman culture; Latin verse satire and epigram; literature of the imperial period; ancient literary criticism; comic drama

LANCE JENOTT, LECTURER

Christian origins; Greek and Coptic languages; Greco-Roman philosophy; theories and methods in the study of religion

TOM KEELINE, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Latin literature; ancient education & scholarship; lexicography, metrics, & textual criticism

TIMOTHY MOORE, JOHN AND PENELOPE BIGGS DISTINGUISHED PROFESSOR OF CLASSICS

Greek & Roman theatre; Roman historiography; Classical reception; ancient music

LUIS ALEJANDRO SALAS, ASSISTANT PROFESSOR

Greek & Roman medicine & philosophy; intellectual history; ancient psychological theories; philosophy of language

REBECCA SEARS, LECTURER

Ancient music; papyrology, Latin poetry, ancient magic

ZOE STAMATOPOULOU, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Greek literature; ancient sympotic literature; Classical reception

KATHRYN WILSON, LECTURER

Hellenistic literature; ancient scientific poetry; environmental studies; Classics and race

See classics.wustl.edu/people for full list of faculty and associated faculty